

Ten Reasons Why Instrumental Music In Worship Is Wrong

2005-02-13 21:02:53 Mike Riley

Is Instrumental Music in Worship Wrong?

- 1) There is no command in the New Testament for Christians to use instruments of music in the worship of the church.
- 2) There is no example in the New Testament of a church, apostle, teacher, or any Christian ever using an instrument in worship.
- 3) It is not of faith, therefore it is sin (Romans 14:23).
- 4) It is going beyond that which is written (1 Corinthians 4:6).
- 5) It violates the command to “sing” (Ephesians 5:19; Colossians 3:16).
- 6) Singing is commanded; the accompaniment of a musical instrument is an “addition” to this command, and therefore it is wrong (Rev. 22:18).
- 7) The use of the instrument in worship to God is a failure to “abide in the doctrine of Christ” (2 John 9).
- 8) Those who use the instrument in worship “reject” the authority of Christ (Matthew 28:19; Luke 6:46).
- 9) It cannot be done “in the name” (or by the authority) of Jesus (1 Corinthians 4:6; Colossians 3:17).
- 10) From the above evidences, the use of the instrument in worship is obviously not from Heaven, so it must be from men (Matthew 21:25).

From the above Scriptures, we can now “clearly” answer this question, “Can Christians use musical instruments in worship and still be pleasing to God?”